With Every Bite, a New Adventure

KACY & TOM

We're Tom and Kacy, a fun-loving couple obsessed with food and travel. We've lived in Washington DC and Brazil, and are currently based in Oklahoma City. We love discovering new places and things near and far. Whether it's a fun restaurant down the street, a cross-country road trip or a getaway to a foreign wine region we believe a new adventure is always just a bite away!

THE BLOG

We see the Tasty Escape as a community for food-obsessed adventurers and hungry travel addicts. Wherever we go we search for local, intimate experiences that couples and solo travelers alike will love. Our blog was created to be a place where food and travel meet, with delicious results.

Our backgrounds in marketing and journalism provide us with the tools and experience to develop professional content and effective campaigns. We have worked most recently with restaurants, wineries, distilleries, online businesses, tourism boards, hospitality companies (hotels, inns), food brands, and more to tell their story and attract more of their target audiences.
